SENECA SPOTLIGHT

Christmas memories 2020

More Memories

Harpers' Santa Comes Home.

Delighting both children and adults, the waving Santa that so many remember from the long-ago holiday windows at Harpers Five and Dime, has finally found his way home for all to enjoy.

A sincere thank you to Mike Harper who donated Santa to the City of Seneca for a much-needed renovation. It was a year-long process that involved many hands and talents.

Santa will make his appearance every Christmas season in the windows at Harpers Five and Dime, now owned by the City of Seneca.

Welcome home, Santa!

Other windows at both Harpers & Kimbrell's added to the nostalgic holiday spirit during the Musical Magical Holiday Light Show

FIRST ANNUAL SNOWBIRD CHALLENGE

Welcome to the first annual Snowbird Challenge!

January 23, 2021
Shaver Recreation Complex
Seneca, SC

We are excited to bring a twist to distance running with this unique style of race format. If you have done it in the heat, why not test your grit in the cold?

We have simply duplicated the Carolina Reaper Challenge for all you snowbirds out there! Same race format as our Carolina Reaper Challenge that is held in the summer, but simply doing it in the depths of Winter.

50K (12 Loops)
Marathon & Marathon Relay (10 Loops)
Half Marathon & Ruck (5 Loops)

9TH ANNUAL BLACK HISTORY
VIRTUAL LUNCHEON
BERTHA LEE STRICKLAND CULTURAL MUSEUM

This year as we continue to observe safety protocol during the pandemic, Bertha Lee Strickland Cultural Museum's 9th Annual Black History Month Celebration will go virtual! Beginning February 12, 2021, and for the remainder of the entire month of February, you can be a part of the 9th Annual Black History Month Celebration and show your support of the museum's Fifth Anniversary Milestone! Our virtual celebration will feature this year's Keynote Speaker, Dr. Rhondra Robinson Thomas, Clemson University Calhoun Lemon Professor of Literature and author of Call My Name Clemson: Documenting the Black Experience in an American University Community. The online celebration will feature entertainment, rediscovered stories of Oconee County's African American community, interviews, give-a-ways, and much more. And, anyone can access the month-long celebration at their convenience via Wi-Fi on their computer or tablet, and also via cell phone. The online event will be free and open to the public.

Owned and operated by the City of Seneca, Bertha Lee Strickland Cultural Museum opened on February 12, 2016, with its premier exhibit, The Waymakers, and has grown to become recognized across the United States as a tourism destination focusing on the local African American and related cultural histories of the people and places in Oconee County. Together with the Lunney Museum, these Seneca City Museums continue to break barriers and set benchmarks for small, micropolitan museums.

We invite you to visit our digital museums at:
senecacitymuseums.org to learn more about our forgotten, dynamic history and to stay informed about our Seneca City Museums'
2021 celebrations and events.
Stay tuned!
